Freda Whittle and Linda Dower, fund-raisers for North West Air Ambulance, receiving the £1400 cheque from managing director Howard Blackburn, accompanied by members of staff.

The proceeds from the recent open day have raised £2120 for air ambulance organisations across the North of England. The money raised was from both customer and supplier donations and matched by a company contribution.

A cheque for £1400 was presented to the North West Air Ambulance, supporting its life saving work across the region, including the Ribble Valley. Two further cheques, each for £360, were sent to Cumbria and Great Northern Air Ambulance services, as both these cover areas where many Dugdales' customers live and work.
